

7521841466.txt

An open internet allows me, as a college student, to stay up to date with news from around the world. Now is the time in my life when I get to decide the person I want to be, and Net Neutrality is vital for me to get the most complete view of all perspectives on the world. To take it away would be a violation of my freedom of thought, belief, creativity, and speech.