

7521845450.txt

The internet is necessary for many things in the world, and if companies like Comcast get their way, it will have terrible effects on the consumer and the nation's economy. If business can't afford ISP's "fast lane", then this will cause detrimental consequences for small businesses, which are the backbone of commerce in this country.