

7521868570.txt

I would like internet service providers to be treated as common carriers. In today's world the internet is as important as electricity and telephone service and should be regulated similarly.