

7521869445.txt

I am against the creation of higher internet streaming or down-loading speeds by the ISP industry to be used exclusively by subscribers at inflated prices. The internet should be neutral and not biased in favor of subscribers with more money than the average user. In addition, competition should be enhanced and the current requests for consolidation in the ISP industry should be denied.