

7521907455.txt

Dear FCC,

I appreciate your reading my comment. I'll be blunt. The plans the cable companies have for net neutrality and service options can only benefit them. There is no possible way for anything they want to benefit the American people. To allow the cable companies the freedom to implement their plan in any form would be a phenomenal disservice to democracy and the future of mankind. In short, whatever it is they want, keep them from achieving it.

Thanks Lots,
Corey Butler