

7522050446.txt

I urge the FCC to class internet providers as common carriers, analogous to a telephone service, and to promote policies that even the playing field as regards to both upstream and downstream content.