

7522072638.txt

I'm a current college student with limited funds and rely on the internet to take art commissions to afford things like being able to buy pencils for my school and to continue to create more art to sell and survive. I cannot afford to have something like this happen. This is pretty close to what china does to it's people and how they treat the internet. This is not china and every other country is laughing at us because of choices like this. It doesn't inspire me to stay here in the country I was born in.