

I support reclassifying internet service providers under the common carrier rules. We should not allow access to particular types of web traffic to be treated as a premium service for the sake of profit.