

7522210547.txt

Net neutrality is important to me because everyone is equal on the internet. On the internet, no one cares how much money is in your bank account. It is one of the few places where open unfiltered discussion can take place on a multitude of topics.