

Freedom of the internet, and the press thereof is something that is a concrete and foundational aspect of the very purpose of its existence. Deregulation of the financial system and regulatory laws has given way to the unregulated and unchecked lobbying process that has indeed destroyed the very foundations of our honest, ethical business practices and freedoms. What we consider free speech and freedom, to a degree is showing the early signs of becoming an illusion and a farce.

The induction of Tom Wheeler is by far proof positive of the corrupt lobbies that are presiding over certain American government bodies. Tom Wheeler is indeed a past inductee and maintainer of the corruption of these lobbies. The years that I have spent aware of the activities of such individuals as an independent and corporate media producer for over 12 years, the delinquent actions of these men are no secret to those that have shadowed their careers in the light of the media. Individuals with such a questionable track record, to be inducted into the chair of such a vital government branch is by far proof in itself of the lobbying that enables the corrupt corporate practices to maintain in secret to its greatest degree and to a minimum in the public eye, as to not detect or broadcast its sole intentions.

The ending of net neutrality, to those that are wise to its truest intentions know that a slight change in operation is not the sole intention of such a "trojan horse" type overhaul.

The main focus of this current overhaul is specifically designed to solely enable the maximization of profit and the bottom line for the cable and broadband monopolies. Those that do not see that are victims of the corporate bias that is blasted through the media.

The second intention is to eventually, with a shrouded campaign, to draw biased public support in favor of stronger internet security measures, more emphasis on the use of digital currencies and guerrilla monitoring via the NSA, CIA and other contracted government task forces in the censoring of any written copy that is considered counter-culture, revolutionary or deemed in the nonsensical categorization of threats of terrorism.

It is in the greatest interest of the citizens of the United States of America that this bill not be passed and indefinitely suspended from a congress vote. This bill serves no advantage to the consumer or their protection thereof. It is, in fact, another infringement of citizens rights masterminded within the corrupt corporate upper levels where the familiarity with the needs of the common worker and consumer are not in any line of sight.

In closing, to understand the very basis of coexistence is to understand the harmony in which commonality and equality exist on the same plane. Capitalistic greed such as this, has only throughout history, ever ushered in an imbalance and prejudice that brings the economical progress as a nation to an ever constant brink of inward destruction. In short, it serves a few and robs a thousand. When corporations and governments alike learn to dispense with the sociopathic greed and fascist ways of governance and learn to be attentive to the needs of the workers and citizens and the balance that follows suit, a new dawn of progress will unearth and benefit the nation as a whole and not a select few.

I again, with the support with the nation of America, ask you to dispense with this infringement of our rights as citizens and to operate business and government with honesty, accountability, tact and overall respect for the workers and citizens of the United States of America.

Thank You
