Dear FCC,

My name is Stacy Bembry and I live in Macon, GA.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

It is important to have a space where people can have their freedom of expression uninhibited. As a scientist, I value freedom of information and the open flow of ideas, however crazy those ideas may seem to others.

Sincerely,

Stacy Bembry
