Dear FCC,

My name is Noah Hurwitz and I live in Longmeadow , MA.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it users may have fewer options and a less diverse Internet.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

Everyone needs to have a say in the world, an opportunity to make their opinion heard, make someone smile, make someone feel something and the internet allows these opportunities every day, net neutrality allows us to create what we want without being overshadowed by large companies that while they appeal to some they can't appeal to everyone, but our internet now can.

Sincerely,

Noah Hurwitz
