Dear FCC,

My name is Edward Askins and I live in Fairview, PA.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

I do not want my ability to communicate constrained by a bunch of power hungry old rich guys. Seriously, they have issues.

Sincerely,

Edward Askins
