Dear FCC,

My name is David Jewell and I live in New Town, ND.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it The internet is not the internet anymore and only a few will have gotten to experience the greatest invention of mankind.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

I want my children to have unlimited opportunities to become educated. I don't want to have to tell stories of better times that they would have got to experience had another government agency not given individual freedom away in exchange for invisible money.

Sincerely,

David Jewell
