Dear FCC,

My name is Sastgamer and I live in Freedom, DC.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because it would regulate the Internet so that only the rich have a say or only the rich can view.

The Internet is important to me because I believe in progress and frankly without a free, uncensored, neutral Internet we would lose our progress and possibly lose our progress, because when you think about it. The Internet is a HUGE social tech, it allows people all over the world to share their ideas and stories without the fear of being censored or the fear of being punished and cutting that tech or regulating it would cause a huge social problem. So I beg you, think of the bigger picture, think of culture and of social abilities and think of people who rely on the Internet with their lives.

Sincerely,

Sastgamer
