Dear FCC,

My name is Kaylee and I live in Provo, UT.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

The Internet is important to me because it's a space to communicate to others around the world, experiment with new ideas, and allow more freedom and opportunities to citizens that wish to start businesses online.

Sincerely,

Kaylee
