Dear FCC,

My name is Paola Ducuara-Lopez and I live in South plainfield, NJ.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because the government will eventually grow to have too much power over the country, and including the "free-world" of the internet!

The Internet is important to me because, as an growing student, I need to know that there will not be barriers to entry for the new ideas and services that I hope to bring to the world. If ISP subscribers have an easier time loading websites of existing companies, the internet would not be free for all.

Sincerely,

Paola Ducuara-Lopez
