

7522853857.txt

Net Neutrality matters because the internet should be an equal-opportunity tool for all citizens of the world to use. Without neutrality, the internet could easily fall to the highest bidder which discriminates against the lower and middle classes. This would broaden the gap between the classes and would create a disturbance in the flow of knowledge and a disconnect in the amount and quality of knowledge provided to all citizens. Long live Net Neutrality! Vive la Internet!