Has something happened to Family Net, Cox channel 260 in Williamsburg, Va.? I'm looking for my Bluegrass and Country music programming and can't find it?

Music Choice or Cox took away our Bluegrass music channel several years ago. We're paying extra for Music Choice and don't have anything to listen to.

We found Family Net and shows like Reno's Old Time, Cumberland Highlanders, and Marty Stuart to name a few and were very happy. Now we haven't seen them in a while and are really missing them. Has something happened to them?

I just read some information about Comcast and country programming and am appalled that a few people can dictate what the world watches or has access to. They seem to be pro gangs with the programming and music choices available and are ruining our society. I'm not trying to promote religious programming. I'm trying to promote good music so that it's available to those who want to hear it and don't want to hear Hip Hop and Rap where they denigrate people and promote gang lifestyles.

If we have to go to Dish networking to get what we want, we will have to change everything and will lose other stations. We have the Cox bundle, TV, internet, and telephone. We'd have to find a new provider for everything because we wouldn't keep anything with Cox if we can't get what we want. That would also mean we would have to change our email address that all of our friends, acquaintances, and business associates use. It would take months to recover and we would miss communications and it would cause all kinds of problems in our daily lives.

I hope someone with some intelligence is listening.
